"we worked well as a unit"

-michael deary

You might think you're at Fenway Park, but these talented young men are straight out of Longmeadow High School. Varsity baseball played an impressive season, finishing in the top three in the league and competing in the Western Mass. tournament. Success lay in the team's defense and talented pitching, especially that of Billy Arnold and Tim Wright. Top batters included seniors Josh Rappaport, John Davitt and E. J. Barkett. Coach Deary commented that the team, "worked well as a unit."

Although they got off to a slow start, things picked up when, as senior Todd Ditmar put it, "We decided to pull together." The team definitely has a lot of spirit, and Coach Deary sensed a team "cohesiveness." Losing their starting lineup to graduation, Coach Deary is not worried.

JV baseball also enjoyed success this season, finishing with a 15-3 record. According to Coach O'Sullivan, the team played an offensive game which was effective. The pitching force, made up of sophomore Cliff Soukup, did an outstanding job on the mound. Sophomore Rob Ravosa showed his talent behind the plate as catcher, while junior Steve Creelman, sophomore Cliff Soukup, Sophomore Eric Mandell, and Steve Merrzeiti batted consistantly between .400 and .500. Team batting also averaged over .350. Things look good for baseball in the future because young talent is prepared to move up to varsity play. Outstanding freshmen should make next year's J.V. super also.

Look, it's a birdie! No, not in the sky, but on the Longmeadow Country Club golf course. Here, our talented Lancer golf team claimed many victories, ending the season with a 10-5-1 record. Looking back, both the team and Coach Mannheim consider their victory over Minnechaug, their greatest rival, the highlight of the season. Finishing fourth in the league, they attended the Western Mass. Golf Championships. The team, however, was disappointed with the outcome because the Lancer golfers missed a 3-way tie for first place by only a few points.

This year's team, according to Coach Mannheim, had a very "unique" feature. Seniors Buddy Sumner and Scott Mackintosh joined the team in their freshman year as the top two players and remained at that level through all four years of high school. Although the team will be losing these two players to graduation, along with Seniors Charles Gales and Dean Tufts, Coach Mannheim feels "a good nucleus remains." The team will be returning next year with high expectations for a great season!

Determination pays off. This year's varsity softball team never gave up when they fell behind. This was the key to their successful season.

New to the team this year, Coach Ann Simons was pleased with the results of the season. Led by Coach Simons and senior co-captains Lori Picard and May Briones, the team used their hitting strength to carry them into the tournament.

Outstanding players this year included seniors Lori Picard at shortstop, May Briones at first base, and Outfielder Karen Flaherty, along with juniors Joanne Kotwicki at second base, Amy Blanchard at centerfield, Kate Boehm at catcher, and sophomore pitcher Carol Meador. Joanne Kotwicki also led the team in runs batted-in.

J.V. softball also enjoyed a successful season. Denise Cardona coached this year's team with Barbara Nardi, Mary Capers, and Chris Rovelli as captains. Key players included sophomore Barbara Nardi at first base, freshmen Mary Capers at third base and Tanya Alsberg at short stop.

With talented underclassmen on both the J.V. and Varsity teams, Coach Simons anticipates another strong team next year.

"Let's go, pick up the pace!" exclaimed boys' track coach Joe Dutsar to his contingent of 35 dedicated runners. Day after day under the hot spring sun, track members pounded the cinder to achieve their personal best.

Deemphasizing their 1-9 record, Dutsar, along with fellow coaches Paul Norris and Dan Boland, noted that "for being so young, we did well." In this rebuilding year, team members, predominately composed of freshman and sophomores, demonstrated an intense hunger to improve their performances. They progressed "so much in two months", shortening times, lengthening jumps and throwing distances. The tracksters, above all, developed a winning attitude. Notes one team member, "We gained confidence and spirit."

Seniors Dave DeCandio and Arnie Horowitz, excelling in the mile run and 440 yard dash, respectively, set the standard for the team. Other standouts included hurdler Mark Henshaw, Paul Lang in the 100 yard dash, and javelin thrower Joe Reichart. Hurdlers Charlie Laub and Mark Rigby, and triple jumper Eric Watts are promising underclassmen.

The great strides made by Longmeadow's tracksters this year will prove to be beneficial in the long run. With pride and conviction, Dutsar promised, "We will be a very good track team next year."

Whether it was crossing the finish line first, throwing the javelin the farthest, or vaulting the bar the highest, each member of the girls' track team contributed to making the 1985 season the best ever.

Senior runners Phillipa Chapman, Liz Whitlock, and Laurie Hastie competed outstandingly in their events. Other key tracksters included hurdler Tonia Ouellette, sprinter Beth White, and two-miler Shannon Gardella. All participated in the Western Mass. competition and led the Lancers to a third place standing over all. Junior discus thrower Melanie Breslaw, shotputer Rachel Gilman and sophomore standouts Laura Tremble, Johnnie Perry, Tanya Parker, and Rebecca Kittredge also completed excellent seasons. Don't forget freshman contributors like Alicia Ramon whose talent promises to keep girls' track on top for many more years.

The girls' team achieved their winning record with spirit, teamwork, and dedication. As Coach Al Jangl said, "With all these factors, next year's team can only be better!"

Q: What made this year's Girls' Varsity tennis team so successful? A: Strength and competitiveness! Superb athletic ability, shown through their perfect record, guided them to the Western Massachusetts tournament. Led by Coach Mike McCarthy and Senior captain Jennifer Sweet, the Lancer players attributed their success to the depth of the team. Seniors Jennifer Sweet, Carey Snyder, Ann-Gail Bregaines, Laura Ferris, and Beth Mitchell proved especially valuable. Key singles players also included underclassmen Chrissy Willse and Maria Cacciaputi. Junior Elizabeth Ruark added strength to the team's doubles play.

Spirit shone through as the Longmeadow Boys' Varsity tennis team struggled through a building year. Captained by seniors Andy Willse and Keith Cohn, the team worked hard under the experienced coaching of Bill Kirkpatrick. Seniors Noel Burke, Stuart Weitz, Andy Willse, and Keith Cohen all contributed to the team's dedication. Team members look at next season optimistically, knowing that this year provided some well-needed experience.

This year's Junior Varsity team, coached by first year coach Dave Daniels, consisted of a coed team. J.V. gave talented underclasspeople the chance to play in preparation for future varsity play.

"Striving for success"

On March 21, 22, and 23 the Class of 1985 glittered through their performances of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Director, Leigh Dobkin; producer, Rob Kagan; vocal director, Brian Canavan; orchestra conductor, Steve Schwartz; and choreographers, Jill Schulman and Crystal Hamer, contributed greatly to the show's success.

The cast included Bill Auerswald as J. Pierrepont Finch, Ken Duclos as J. B. Bigley, Heather Moore as Hedy La Rue, Barbara Smith as Rosemary, Alun Polga as B. B. D. Ovington, Kristy Klovanich as Smitty, and about eighty other enthusiastic singers and dancers from the senior class. A story about a young man climbing the ladder of success in the business world, the plot centers on J. Pierrepont Finch's rise from window washer to chairman of the board. The show, according to one senior, "brought the class together in one united effort."

Seniors who found themselves shying from the lights of the stage got involved with sets, costumes, makeup, ushering, the show orchestra, or a number of other committees working to get the show on its feet. With the cooperation of the class advisors Vito Riccio and Maryann Sedran, the seniors shined in their show, and finished it off with an "amazing" cast party.

IT WAS A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

May 28, the Senior Prom, was a magical night for the class of 1985. Over 300 people met at the grand ballroom of the elegant Marriott Hotel to dance the night away. Despite the rain outside, the scence was beautiful inside: gowns in pastel colors, bright flowers, white and black tuxedoes, and happy sparkling eyes.

The class of '85 displayed their Lancer spirit as they crowded onto the dance floor. A wide variety of music was played by WTIC FM D.J. Gary Craig. Craig added to the excitement of the evening with multi-personalities from his radio show such as Vito Knuckles, and Mr. Roberts.

While seniors danced inside, clouds began to clear outside, adding more glamour to the evening. Couples cooled down under the stars by strolling on the romantic terrace. Music played until magical midnight when the lights dimmed on L.H.S.'s twenty-ninth prom. It was a night the class of 1985 will never forget.

The Senior Banquet! Only one of the big events taking place in Senior Week. This year's Banquet promised to be a truly exciting event. Held at Chez Joseph in Agawam on May 30, the festivities began at 6:30.

First, the Class of '85 enjoyed an elegant dinner, choosing between several main courses. After the meal, the five class officers bid their good-byes to their classmates. Vice Principal Dennis Pike, Superintendent Dr. Robert McKanna, and the class advisors Mrs. Mary Ann Sedran and Mr. Vito Riccio also gave speeches. The class then presented Mr. Riccio with a live pig for his farm.

The three emcees Randy Hobbs, Rich Skoler, and Karen Crosby proceeded to present the long awaited class awards. Afterwards, Yearbook editors-in-chief Jody Marshall and Suzy Canter announced that the 1985 Masacksic was dedicated to Mr. Robert D'Agostino and then the yearbooks were handed out. As the seniors looked at pictures in the book, they also watched the slide show which was accompanied by the Class Party Song "Shout!"

The Banquet ended at 11:00 p.m., but it was on to Roller World in Enfield for more partying until 4:00 a.m. All in all, it was a super evening and one that the Class of '85 will remember forever.

THE BEST LHS HAS TO OFFER

Thunderous applause from proud parents, teachers, and students greeted Longmeadow High's 270 graduates as they entered the gym, led by Junior Marshals Michael Murphy and Sue Rotondo. This was no ordinary assembly or sports event; rather, it served to recognize the best of what L.H.S. has to offer.

Looking out into the seemingly endless black and white rows of seniors wearing their caps and gowns, Principal Angleo Teixeira said the 1985 Awards Assembly "recognizes our commitment to excellence." He added, "There is no success without hard work." During the 1½ hour affair, happy students went up one-by-one to collect their respective awards from Mr. Pike and Mr. Lynch, 126 seniors and 40 underclassmen were rewarded for outstanding achievements in academics and sports.

Coach Robert D'Agostino and Mrs. Judy Bouley, presented the "traditional" athletic awards. Coach Dag also honored Marc Vogel for "working many, many hours" painting the athletic figures on the gym walls, saying with a smile, "I had the idea, but he put my idea on the walls." Chinese A.F.S. Exchange Teacher was also honored at the assembly. Teixeira noted, "She was a friend, teacher, and great addition to LHS."

The band set the tone with music made up of loud, noble trumpets and booming percussion. Ironically, however, its members played "Fanfare for the Common Man." At this assembly, those present were all but common.

ON THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

Clear blue skies stood overhead, as the 270 members of the graduating Class of 1985 were given words of wisdom on the topic of success: its pitfalls, and methods of achieving it in the future.

At the June 2 commencement ceremony, U.S. Department of Education Deputy Undersecretary Linda M. Combs, guest speaker, told the trustees of the nation's future that they are "the guardian of our dreams." She said these graduates can successfully "shape the world as it ought to be" by having courage to ask, dream, and stand up for what they believe. Combs warned that this success can not be achieved without moral and intellectual integrity. In this era of continuing disallusionment, she noted, "You must be able to cast off these clouds of darkness and see instead the bright and shiny futures you have begun to build for yourselves."

While Combs spoke of future success, the 1,300 onlookers heard class President Jennifer Daniels reflect upon the problems experienced over the year by students and parents. She said many of her peers were disappointed by their achievements when "success was not exactly what one envisioned." Many were blinded by their desires to accomplish overly narrow goals. She said, "Success is like a rainbow ... You have to take the sun and the rain."

In keeping with the speakers' theme, the Class of 1985 gave, as their gift, $200.00 for the development of successful, innovative teaching curriculum and strategies. The funds, to be distributed over two years beginning in 1986, were previously depleated by Proposition 2½.

Following the distribution of diplomas, Principal Teixeira declared that the members of the Class of 1985, who were dressed in black and white caps and gowns, were now official graduates of Longmeadow High School. Having achieved one milestone of success, these young men and women will, no doubt, in the words of Ms. Daniels, find their "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow."

Spring Is Here!

Three events bounced L.H.S. students into spring this year. First, L.H.S. actively participated in the annual Longmeadowe Days. Key Club, Keyettes, and A.F.S. stationed booths on the busy green. In addition, the band marched in the parade.

The annual Latin Banquet, a feast full of Roman food, costumes, and customs was another spring activity at the high school. Mrs. Dudley organized the gala affair. Latin I students provided entertainment and served the food. Other Latin students feasted and viewed gladiatorial combat. Everyone, including Mr. Texiera, indulged till full.

On May 9, L.H.S.'s Music Department performed its annual spring concert. The concert featured the orchestra, wind ensemble, concert band, jazz band, girls' chorus, men's chorus, girls' concert chorus, Lyrics, and a 12-voice group called I Cantori. Conductors Wilfred Burkle, Peter Thomsen, and Michael Mucci also talked about the success of this year's chorus exchange with Elmira, N.Y.

A Fond Farewell To Mr. Grant

Mr. Melvin Grant, English teacher and former Masacksic advisor, is now leaving Longmeadow High School after seventeen years of dedicated service. For fourteen years Mr. Grant gave much of himself to produce some of the finest yearbooks, and without his help, the yearbook would not be what it is today. We would like to wish Mr. Grant much luck in the future and thank him for all of his time and hard work.

Uniqueness, ū•nēk'nes-the quality of being without a like or equal-is a characteristic of the Class of 1985.

This class is a special class. We were all able to search and discover our own personal talents, whether they be academic, artistic, or athletic.

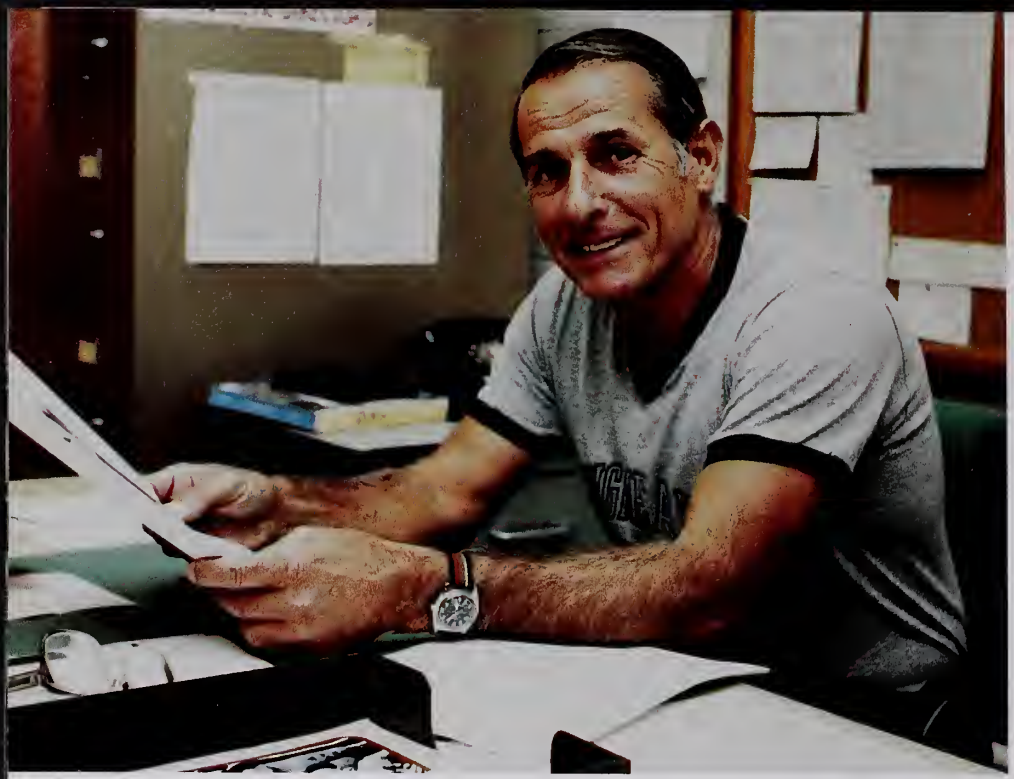
As our long awaited senior year finally arrived, our common goals brought us closer together, despite a few uncertainties and embarrassing moments. We all looked forward to an exciting and memorable senior year; and we definitely accomplished that!!

Yet, as in every class there are the difficult times of endless work, heart breaking romances, or losing the big game. However, we have all learned and grown from these experiences, and have put them to our best advantage for the future.

This is what makes the Class of Nineteen Eighty-five unique!

IT'S THE LAST

T TIME FOR US



Dedication

To: Mr. Robert D'Agostino
From: The Graduating Class Of 1985

Throughout our high school careers, we, the members of the Class of 1985 have encountered many influential and very special people. Within this elite group of caring people, one man has displayed all of the qualities that have inspired both our physical and emotional growth. His advice and encouragement during these sensitive times have helped us develop our talents, raise our confidence, and reach our goals. His continuous support at many sporting events has been evidence of his dedication to athletics and the L.H.S. students. From gym classes to varsity sports, he has helped all students reach their athletic potential and therefore, has enhanced their development as individuals. He has dedicated himself to us in our four years at Longmeadow High School, and now it is with great honor and respect that we dedicate our yearbook to him: Mr. Robert D'Agostino. Thanks for everything Coach Dag!

My college-year summers were spent being a teacher in Project Headstart in Springfield. My 4 and 5 year old students sang a song proclaiming "This little light of mine ... I'm gonna let it shine!!!" So ..... To my shining friends in the Class of 1985:

I love teaching you because I love to watch you grow. Sharing some of your experiences makes my profession so beautiful. You have found these years to be sometimes difficult but also some of the more fulfilling years of your life. I hope that you have learned much about yourself and have a good idea of the things you do well. Turn your winning feeling into not conceit but confidence. Try to extend your confidence into other endeavors of your life.

Be persistent but also flexible. The longer you live, the more you can sympathize with another's feelings and positions, and the less you will see things as black and white. You will be loved and respected in direct proportion to your love and respect for others around you.

Most of you have an overflow of energy and enthusiasm for life. Hold tightly onto these most precious gifts, especially when your job is tiring and your experiences are draining. It is all too easy for us to stop caring. Isolation and lonliness are the sad results for those who have lost the courage to stay energetic and enthusiastic about life.

My warmest wish for you is a rich and rewarding life and an old age filled with beautiful memories and cherished family and friends. Your bright light will make all of us shine ... now let the memories begin!

Light over the Horizon

The Class of 1985, like Don Quijote de la Mancha, will continue to follow their dream. In their future will be many windmills both real and imaginary. They do indeed exist. Dreams are like the land and green pastures of Somers. They are the only things in the world that last. Many times dreams give far greater satisfaction than the reality itself. Thus, the only thing worth working for is often our dreams.

In the twilight of Freshman year, it was necessary to overcome weariness and bewilderment. For many, the complexity contained between the covers of books was received with enthusiasm and wonderment.

As the years went by the sun rose and set over the horizon. Faith was the foundation of our future destiny. The Class of 1985 endured disappointments. However, like the vigor of twelve old oaks, we have persistently managed with courage to vanguish our windmills.

Mrs. MaryAnn Sedran has been my pillar of strength. Many times we had anxieties. Yet, the spontaneity, the youth, the magic of the Class fo 1985 would calm the spirit. We both had a vision, an ambition, a dream. And, bringing that dream to a realization has been our greatest happiness.

And so to you the Class of 1985-'as God is our witness', when dawn comes light shall shine over the horizon once again.

Making your way in the world today
Takes everything you got.
Taking a break from all your worries
Sure would help a lot.
Wouldn't you like to get away?
Sometimes you want to go Where everybody knows your name
And they're always glad you came.
You want to be where you can see
The troubles are all the same.
You want to be where everybody
knows your name.
You want to go where people know
People are all the same.
You want to go where everybody
knows your name.

Latin will improve S.A.T. scores

Seniors are great

4th quarter means 13 more to go

Study period is a time for homework

Parents will drive

Friendly's might be the alternative

A SENIOR BELIEVES . . .

A.P. means acute pain

9:00 means three more hours of homework

He missed the bell

It takes one barrel

Report cards should be abolished

Dip goes with anything

In weekends

Luck will improve S.A.T. scores

That it is true

4th quarter means 3 more weeks

Study period is a time to sleep in

Someone will drive

DAISY-WEEDS

This year's annual Daisy-Weeds football game was played on November 17. Although it was a cold autumn day, all the players exhibited great ability which contributed to an exciting game. The Weeds excelled and maintained the lead throughout the game, beating the Daisies 28-6. The victory was due to the Weeds' courageous defense and electric offense. Weeds' coaches Randy Hobbs, Doug Stebbins, E. J. Barkett, John Davitt, and Mr. Kirkpatrick and Daisies' coaches Jim Yesu, Josh Rappaport, Bill Kotwicki, and Mr. Daniels taught the players almost everything they knew about football. The game would not have been complete without the attractive cheerleaders who contributed spirit to the day. The game was exciting for both the players and the spectators, and added unity to the class of 1985.

I think this time around
I am gonna do it
Like you never knew it
OH I'll make it through.
The time has come for me to break out of this shell.
I have to shout that I am coming out . . .
I've got to show the world

"Transitional Waters"
I gaze into the waters of fate
To see what we both fear.
But when I start to see it all
The pool becomes unclear,
And I wait; and so I watch
The image fading fast.
I realize as time goes by
I'm watching my future pass.
And so I'm wary of all the things
That tell me where I'm going.
I'd rather be a mute in motion

OUR OPINION OF US

They say we seniors know it all. They say we act superior. To prove they are wrong, we have modestly listed here our noticeable traits.

C -reative, competent, charming and certainly classy

L -ively, laudable, logical and lovely looking

A -miable, aspiring, awesome and actually admireable

S -trong, sensational, spectacular and social significant

S -uccessful, superior, sincere and simply stupendous

O -riginal, omnipotent, observant and occasionally obedient

F -un, friendly, fabulous and fantastically fascinating

1 -in a million

9 -times livlier at night

8 -times as far out as Major Tom

5 -times as unique as Boy George

WE ARE UNIQUE!

"there's no substitute for aggression"

- dan kane

"There's no substitute for aggression." These were the wise words Assistant Coach Dan Kane had for the 1984 LHS football team. But the Lancers did not need a substitute, they played aggressively all season long. Although they did not realize their potential in September, no one could deny their talent and triumph by November. They finished the season undefeated in their league and 9-1 overall. They not only captured the Suburban League title, but competed in the Western Mass Superbowl. Although they lost that game to returning champions Minnechaug, their accomplishments earned the LHS football team notoriety and respect.

Some of the individual players also earned fame for their contribution to the team's success. Slotback Randy Hobbs won the Dagenais Award for outstanding player in the Suburban League and was also named to the Western Mass All-Star team. In addition, USA Today placed E. J. Barkett on the All-American Football Second Team. Although the squad included a few noted stars, every player was vital to the success of the team.

Because the season was so long, three months of grueling two hour practices, success depended upon the players' dedication. But with this year's team, there certainly was no shortage of enthusiasm. As co-captain Jim Yesu said, "These were all smart guys who worked well together and were dedicated to football." Under the supreme leadership of coach Michael Deary and senior co-captains Randy Hobbs and Jim Yesu, the mighty Lancers had a terrific season.

Although we must say goodbye to eight seniors, including quarterback Josh Rappaport, center John Davitt, and receiver E. J. Barkett, as well as Doug Stebbins, John Burke, Bill Kotwicki, and Jim Yesu, the 1984 Lancer football team leaves their dedicated fans with many fond memories. Thanks for a terrific season, guys!!

"the goal was to improve and we succeeded"

- ron morissette

The boys soccer team kicked off another season with the philosophy of veteran coach Mr. Morissette "improving every day through playing." The team started out with lots of conditioning, scrimmaging, and drills to improve skills and add experience to the team. "Our overall lack of experience is a big weakness.", stated Coach Morissette. By far, Catherdral was the toughest opponent they faced. The Lancers finished the season with one win, fourteen losses, and one tie.

Experience made players like seniors Andy Cohen, Jeff Reynolds, Graham Wilson, and Marco Macchiaroli, and juniors Todd Goodrich and Doug Cameron great contributors to their team. Senior Todd Ditmar, another outstanding player, qualifed for the second team of All-Western Mass. "The year could have been a lot better.", Coach Morissette reflected, but he hopes next year his players will gain more experience, and he feels optimistic for future years. There's nothing to hang your heads for guys, after all, you're LANCERS!

The junior varsity team also spent long hours working their skills. Coach LeBlanc remained dedicated to them. Experience added to their already strong sense of loyalty. These J.V. players are looking forward to playing on the varsity level, and are enthused about the game. Talent prevails at the junior varsity level. This is obvious during their practices, and each member of the team adds a vital part to it.

On the freshman field, there is also plenty of spirit. These guys definitely have something to grace future teams. They were agile and quick to learn. They practiced drills and team tactics, helping them gain skill for the upper level teams. The season was a "learning experience" for most of them, initiating them into the rigors and the routines of high school level sports. They worked well as a team, and "that certain energy common in only freshman."

With such spirited and dedicated guys making up the soccer force, there's a lot to look forward to on the field in the future.

"to respect and be respected"

- michael mccarthy

Led by Coach Michael McCarthy, co-captains Lori Picard and Ann Chambers, and seniors Ann-Gail Bregaines, Jennifer Daniels, Barbara Gill, and Laurie Hastie, the girls' Varsity soccer team worked together, placing third in their division.

Unlike past years, girls' soccer gained a great deal of respect from opponents. According to Ann-Gail Bregianes, "Other teams did not face Longmeadow with an 'easy win' attitude."

Although the team lacked shooting skills and experience, depth, athletic ability, and attitude were its strengths. A combination of returning players was hungry to win, and Lori Picard, leading the division in scoring, was also a special asset to the team.

With a 5-10-1 season, including victories against rivals East Longmeadow, and Chicopee Comp, who are in a higher division. Thanks to spirit, dedication, and hard work, the team continually improved throughout the season. The JV team also improved over the season. Said co-captain Jen Cummings, "Although there were some conflicts in the beginning, we worked well and got more spirit towards the end."

Inexperience was the only weakness of the JV team. Co-captain Roberta Ashe felt that the team had very strong lines on both defense and offense. Standouts such as Mel Wass and Nellie Swan also contributed to the team's success. Both JV and Varsity survived tough competition to enjoy a great season.

"there's no stoppin' us!"

mary "magic" johnson

There was no stopping the Longmeadow High School Cheerleaders as they rallied our athletes to victory. Coached by Mary "Magic" Johnson and Stacy Scott, the varsity and junior varsity squads created the spirit evident in all Lancer fans and athletes.

Cheering for football, soccer, and basketball, the cheerleaders demonstrated dedication and versitility, as well as enthusiasm. Our varsity football team became the Suburban League Champions and reached the Superbowl with the encouragement from the cheerleading squad.

The agile and precise movements and formations performed by the cheerleaders resulted from strenuous practices which began before school opened in the fall. Each practice consisted of a warmup, review of cheers and mounts, and sometimes the addition of a new cheer. Lead by varsity captain Margie Engleman and junior varsity co-captains Amy Gray, Catherine Stackhouse, and Melissa Winkler, the squads perfected their spirited routines.

This year, however, a new idea was added to the typical cheerleading agenda. The varsity cheerleaders performed a dance routine to the song "Breakin'-There's No Stopping Us" for half-time entertainment at the football games. The Pep Rally, another new idea, displayed the immense school spirit usually created by the cheerleaders.

"she who has the will to win can not be beaten"

- ann simons

Driving their way to success, the Lancer girls field hockey team completed a high-scoring season. Coach Ann Simons led the team to a victorious 10-2-2 season, suffering only two losses to Southwick, the Western Mass. champions, and two ties with the East Longmeadow Spartans. The team, with support from senior co-captains May Briones, Sue Dineen, Carolyn Croteau, and Sue Plumb, beat Amherst in overtime in the quarter-finals of the Western Mass. tournament, accomplishing what no other LHS field hockey team has done in the school's history.

Junior Chris Atkins finished the season as the team's leading scorer, and May Briones, a Midas Muffler Player of the Week, followed close behind. Amy Blanchard, center half-back, helped maintain a tough defense. Lancer goalies Judy Eickhoff and Sue Gonzales made save after save, helping the team achieve its spectacular record.

The girls expected a fantastic season; they were inspired by the numerous and skilled seniors. Senior players included forwards Sue Plumb and Sue Dineen, links May Briones and Carolyn Croteau, halfbacks Laura DePersis and Jen Sweet, sweeper Kris Bibeau, goalie Judy Eickoff, and newcomer Kim Sudnick. Other newcomers to the team included freshman Meg Dineen, starting sweeper Abby Roth, forward Chrissy Quinn, Sarah Martel, and Andrea Doherty. These young and promising underclassmen on the team assured future victories for the Lancerettes. The undefeated Junior Varsity squad also shows great potential for Lancer field hockey for many years to come, hoping that they will someday surpass their present record to become Western Mass. champions.

A mixture of skilled and adept seniors, able and talented underclassmen, and superior coaching created the sensational Lancer field hockey team of 1984. The girls strived for their best season and succeeded. Spirit and talent pushed them on to become a landmark in LHS history.

"it was a good experience"

- joseph winseck

With the fervent dedication of promising runners on both the boys' and girls' teams, Cross Country at LHS this year finished with flying colors. Under the everwatchful eye of their coach Mr. Winseck, the runners worked hard to improve themselves. As a result, many outstanding runners developed.

Seniors Keith Cohn, Dave DeCandio, and Andy Willse led the boys' team with their superb performances. Juniors Steve Biscotti and Mark Salwen, as well as sophomore Erik Mandell are sure to maintain excellent performances next year. The girls' team excelled also, with the help of senior Liz Whitlock and junior Catherine Casey. Sophomore Shannon Gardella proved to be an excellent runner, and went to the state championships. Jean Whitlock, a freshman, is sure to be an excellent addition to the team in the future. With all these incredible athletes, Cross Country at LHS has done well this year and is sure to do so in the future.

"do it up"

- tonia ouellette

"Team spirit, cooperation, talent, and hardwork." According to veteran coach Judy Bouley, these are the qualities of a good team, like the 1984 girls gymnastic team. In this individual sport, the LHS squad stressed team goals. Despite a few close losses, their effort was rewarded by a fourth place finish in Western Mass, and a team score of 118 points, two away from the school record. Credit for this impressive showing can be given to co-captains Chris Krol and Carey Snyder. These seniors promoted commaraderie, and successfully pulled the team together.

Outstanding routines were given by all the gymnasts throughout the season. Sophomore Rebecca Kittredge performed impressively in the all-around "turning in many consistently high scores." Also performing in the all-around was junior Jen Rosol. She placed fifth at Western Mass with an exciting floor routine. Fellow juniors Debbie Stone and Tonia Ouellette and Lisa Nardi gave valuable contributions in three events. Coach Bouley described the 1984 season as "very successful." Because the team expects to do even better next year, look for great things from the 1985 squad.

Rookie coach Ford Madden also awaits great things from the boys team next year. Despite the loss of 6 seniors to graduation last year, this diversified team had a fine season. They managed to capture third place at Western Mass, largely due to the dedication of junior co-captains Dan Tomasetti and Evan Kaplan as well as Jim Griffin in the all-around. With such a young team, the guys enthusiastically look forward to next season.

"the cardiac kids and the wild women"

-jack dolan, tina rosenthal

Racing to success, the LHS swim team is as powerful as ever. Both the girls' and boys' teams face fierce competition and finished a stroke ahead.

The boys team looked extra slick this year with its winning record and its remarkable spirit. Coach Isabelle Fraser and assistant coach Rob Pelmas drove the team to victory. The hard-working team went through both early morning and afternoon practices which made the squad even tougher. Team captains Jack Dolan and Marty MacDonnell led the team. Dolan swam in almost any event while Marty MacDonnell specialized in freestyle and occasionally dove. Juniors Brian Shukan and Andy Bassock showed their strength in sprinting. Other juniors included backstroker Andy Moynahan and Greg Sellei, an expert in breaststroke and freestyle. The team showed a lot of young talent including freshman strokers Dave Davidson and Mike Mandell, sophomore Jon Wesson, and freshman diver Damon Thomas. The team had a fantastic season this year although it faced competition from Minnechaug. The team's depth and strong attitude with a few superstars, made the team successful. The boys' talent and determination pulled them through.

The boys were not the only champions in the pool this season. Lancer girls came back this year, after losing many strong swimmers, to show strength in every event. Coach Barb Egan led the squad with some help from ace swimmer and captain Judy Tripp and captain Carolyn Croteau, a specialist in fly and backstroke. The team had an undefeated season because of their all-around strength. Tina Rosenthal, Shannon Collins, and Kim Walsh showed great talent in freestyle while Dana Quattrochi and Jody Metz led in butterfly. Breaststrokers Amy Wakeman and Debbie Quattrochi and backstrokers Lynn Trelease and Kim Roberts always swam with success. With great racers, also came several great female divers including freshman Jeanne Trelease, Mary Capers, and Marna Creelman, and sophomore ace Rebbecca Kittredge. The girls team had another winning season. They shined with their depth and quality. Both the girls and boys teams lapped up victories this year with style.

"pretend this is a hit scrim"

-ray suzor

The hockey team excelled this year with the assistance of such excellent athletes as senior captains, Greg Collins, Jon Fisk, and Scott Mackintosh. Greg Collins was the leading scorer on the team and in the league. Jon Fisk placed second after Greg on the team. Other seniors include Kenny Hughes, a defensive forward, Eric Thor and Rob Leavitt, productive scorers on the team, Jeff Feldman a consistent defenseman, and Joe Siciliano, back up goaltender. Valueable underclassmen include Bill Carroll, a top goaltender, and sophomores Gary Picard and Brett Suzor.

The LHS hockey team has established a strong tradition of making the playoffs in recent years. With superb performances and great enthusiasm, they have made the playoffs the passed six out of seven years. In the last two years, they have moved up to Division I.

Under the excellent guidance of their experienced coach, Ray Suzor, the captains worked hard on improving leadership skills this year. They labored to be more team-oriented than individual-oriented. Mr. Suzor states that, "In a team sport where there is interlocking of play, an optimistic attitude makes all the different in the world, and the team has shown accomplishments in this aspect of the game." An excellent season proves these accomplishments.

"lancers say, 'laaaater' to opponents"

-the starting five

The L.H.S. Boys' Basketball team has traditionally been respected as one of the most competitive and highly skilled teams in the area. This year was no exception! They achieved this reputation through their excellent ability, dedication, and team spirit. Veteran coach Ron Morrissette deserves much of the credit for the team's success as he has guided and produced outstanding varsity teams for the past fifteen years. Many varsity players returned from last year's winning squad including senior superstars Randy Hobbs, Dean Tufts, Sam Radner, and David Krumsiek. Other senior standouts include John Davitt, Ed Carey, and Bill Arnold, In addition, juniors Bob Gianelly, Mike Murphy, Glenn Godin, Mark Curto and sophomore Eric Purnell contributed their tremendous skills to this year's squad.

Although the team weathered a few tough losses to Minnechaugh and Chicopee, they always returned to display their talent and maintain their winning status. They thrilled their fans with a spectacular one point overtime win against an undefeated South Hadley team. Lead by top scoring center Dean Tufts, who averaged nineteen points each game, the Lancers said "Laaater!" to most of their opponents.

The Junior Varsity Team, coached by Mr. John Mayo, also completed a successful season. Led by juniors Dan Teree and Dave Condolora and sophomores Randy Reyhons, Matt Woods, Joe Auth and Tom McLaughlin, the J.V. team worked hard and it showed. Marvin Lyon, Eric Fisher, Chris Carey, Tom Rogers and Scott Manning also contributed their valuable talents to the squad. As this team gained experience, they also exhibited dedication and team spirit. It appears that the Lancer tradition of Excellence will continue!

Through the diligent efforts of its members, the Longmeadow High School Varsity Basketball Team looked forward to the tournament. Over the past few years, they have achieved much growth and they reached excellence again this year. Ms. Parker, the first year coach, expressed that she had a very positive attitude about this year's team because they were extremely enthusiastic on the court. The girls found their toughest competition from Northampton and Amherst.

The Varsity team was proud of all of its members including senior captains Lori Picard and Jennifer Daniels as well as outstanding starters May Briones, Amy Blanchard, and Cheryl Rogers, and last but certainly not least, its other members Andrea Doherty, Joanne Kotwicki, Sue Rotondo, Maria Sicialiano, Tonia Ouellette, Pam Rogers, and Karen Curto.

The Junior Varsity team members include: Captains Katie Boehm, Chris Atkins, and Sarah Martel; the top scorers are Karen McNaughton and Tonia Ouellette plus the remaining valued members Kathy Foley, Kiara McGuinness, Laura Tremble, Megan Dinneen, Stacy Simons, Jayme Radding, Rachel Foley, and Kara Toole.

Both Varsity and Junior Varsity Girls Basketball team members demonstrated superior team spirit giving 110% at practice and in competition.

Even before the snow began falling this year at Berkshire East, Longmeadow High School's entire Ski Team started practicing indoors, training rigorously for both their slalom and giant slalom events. Although they got off to a late start, due to the delayed snow, the team immediately began to show promise. "With strong leaders, Nancy Davidson, Ann Gail Bregaines, Hillary Stone, and captain of the team, Barbara Gill, it's no wonder the Girls' team consistently raced with both speed and accuracy!", commented third-year coach Rebecca Folta. The Boys' team, led by team captain Holt Murray, was also coached by Ms. Folta. Other members included Joe Reichart, Keith Kuerzel, and newcomber Ben Falk. The boys have patiently rebuilt their team after losses suffered through graduation of senior members last year and delayed cuts this season. Despite the late start, Coach Folta felt that the dedication and hard work of the Longmeadow High School Ski Team's extremely talented skiers helped them excell in the State Championships in February!

What a surprise! The wrestling team this year made a great comeback from last year's record of three wins and eight losses and became a winning team. Coach Tom Stark led the team through their victory season. Key members of the team included seniors Basil Ormsby (121 lbs.), and Jim Danalis (142 lbs.), junior Dan Tomassetti (140.), sophomore Eric Harrington (157 lbs) and freshman Charlie Gilman (100 lbs.). These wrestlers combined talent, sport, and a lot of hard work to lead their team to a successful season.

Wrestling is one of the most demanding sports at LHS. Team members worked out everyday for nearly three hours to be in peak physical condition. Their workouts included scrimmaging, drilling, and running. Dedication and a strong desire to win pushed the team through their tough practices.

All of their hard work definitely paid off. The LHS squad defeated teams such as Southwick, Amherst, and Northampton. They took first place at the Sommers' tournament, and individual titles went to senior Jim Danalis, junior Dan Tomassetti, sophomore Eric Harrington, and freshman Eric Watts. Dan Tomassetti was also recognized as the most valuable player of the tournament.

This was the wrestler's year to shine. In contrast to last year's team, they had talent from all four classes. Coach Stark worked with this varsity of talent to build a strong, determined team, and to create a "winning" image for the LHS wrestlers.

Because the yearbook is such an important record of our high school years, it takes a creative and dedicated staff to design a book that captures the spirit of high school and all of the memories. The MASACKSIC staff of '85 is just that. With its enthusiastic new advisors, Mr. Potvin and Mr. Fil, things got off to a great start. "Our advisors were glad to have the chance to learn from this year's experienced staff." Editors-in-Chief Jody Marshall and Suzy Canter, along with the other editors, spent hours "striving for the best book ever for the seniors." Perfection was the goal, and the book will definitely set trends for years to come. In order to achieve this perfection, the staff had to meet many deadlines and cooperate with each other. "It has certainly been a learning experience," declared Mr. Potvin. The super staff of the MASACKSIC did it again!

you bet your golden tassles

Every year at graduation ceremonies in June, you may notice a gold tassle on the caps of certain seniors. Members of NHS may be recognized as they wear these special tassles. The responsible NHS members tutor other students and faithfully attend club meetings. Running the bookstore is another main function of the club. As one member stated, "Everyone does something. It's not just any club. It's an honor to belong." The officers for 1985 are Noel Burke, Anne Chambers, Kerry Gallivan, Jennifer Sweet, and Kerry Kisiel, filling the positions of President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Social Secretary, respectively. Jon Aronson and Karen Flaherty are in charge of tutoring services.

During the year, NHS planned many fundraisers to earn money for the scholarships the group presents to outstanding members of the club. The bookstore primarily supports this fund, helped by ping-pong and volleyball tournaments. With the help and support of their dedicated advisors, Mrs. Pincus and Ms. Blake, National Honor Society remains an active part of LHS.

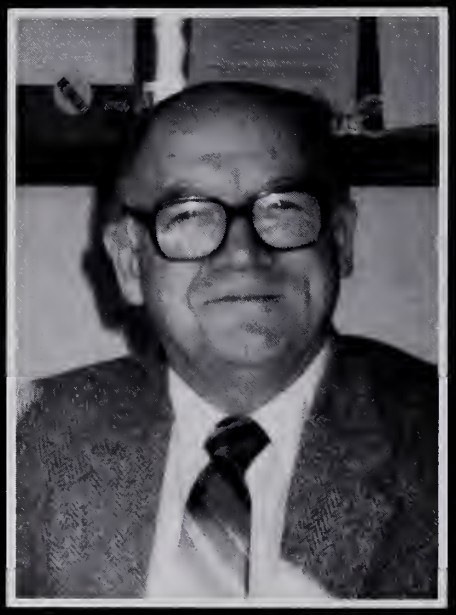
because key clubbers care



Does anyone ever wonder who takes care of providing the food at the football games? The answer to that question is Key Club. Under the guidance of their advisor, James Climo, and the leadership of their president, Brad Spink, Key Club accomplishes many successful projects.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Springfield, Key Club is a community service organization which has been more and more successful over the years. Every Sunday the Key Clubbers faithfully visit the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children. In the Spring they hold a Trash-A-Thon from which half the profit goes to charity. The other half is put toward sending delegates to conventions. Key Club also performs the difficult task of planning and carrying out the infamous Variety Show.

Last July, Longmeadow Key Club won three awards at the national convention and placed second in the country for achievements. Bill Auerswald, International Secretary of the Key Club, claims that, "We have done very well this year, and we are optimistic about the future."

serving up keyettes

1985 — definitely an exciting year for the Keyettes. For the first time in the school's history, a girl chose to join the all-male Key Club instead of Keyettes citing that "they do more, waste less time." "She didn't give us a chance," stated many Keyettes, and then they wanted to prove that they were worthwhile. Selling carnations to love-struck students was not their only activity- our Keyettes performed many important duties to benefit the community. In addition to their weekly adventures to Shriners' Hospital and ushering stints at Stage West, the Keyettes added a little life to the cafeteria by repainting the walls. Throughout their sale of key chains and other fundraisers, the Keyettes donated more than one thousand dollars to their international project, the National Order for Rare Disorders. The climax of the year's activities was the girls' trip to the International Keyette Convention in Ocean City, Maryland. Throughout their conflicts, devoted sponsor Mrs. Tarnauskis (Mrs. T) continued to stand by them. "We are a worthwhile club, and proud of our accomplishments. We've done a lot in the past, we'll continue to do so. We've never felt looked down upon before."

"The Jet Jotter represents the needs and interests of the students in a creative and imaginative manner," according to Mr. Fitzgerald, the newspaper's advisor. The up-to-date political, athletic, social, and scholastic articles are evidence of this. Another popular feature, the Roving Lens, expresses the students' and faculty's opinions.

The 50 member staff publishes 3000 copies of the Jet Jotter each month, which are circulated throughout the school and the community. Reporters submit intriguing and pertinent stories which are presented to the Editor-in-Chief, Alun Polga, and the Managing Editor, Kerry Kisiel, for their review and stamp of approval. In addition, Steven Goldstein, the Photography Editor, supplies applicable supporting photographs. The Jet Jotter's numerous journalistic awards are proof of its high standard of excellence.

Even though the ski season got off to a shaky start this year with a lack of snow, the ski club's style was not cramped as Mt. Tom had plenty of it. With 55 skiers this year, participants demonstrated enthusiasm and skill throughout their season. Mt. Tom offered 3 programs this year for every type of skier, so the 3 hours spent each Thursday afternoon were hardly boring! "This is a great way to polish your skills as a skier," sponsor Mel Grant stated. Also chaperoning to Mt. Tom were Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Bailey. As a "spinoff" from this program due to the enthusiasm of involved skiers, the club offered a trip to Innsbruck, Austria. Ending the season with a trip to Brodie Mountain, most people looked forward to ski season '86!

As skiing remains a very popular sport in Western Mass., Mr. Grant is hoping that more people will become involved with the club in the next few years. The purpose of the club is to have fun, and obviously the skiers at LHS are doing just that. Here's hoping that the club enjoys just as much fun next year!

exploring the outdoors

If you're interested in outdoor activities and have a real passion for nature, then you ought to be a member of the Outing Club. Composed of students who enjoy backpacking, skiing, canoeing, and camping, the club tries to venture into the wilderness at least once a month to enjoy nature at its best. Mr. Hirsh heads to club, and was assisted this year by Maura McGuire, who worked for the Willie Ross school. Mr. Hirsh said he "finds it very rewarding." It definitly provides an outlet for those who wish to get away from the hassle of the daily grind. The Outing Clubbers visited such "natural" places as Nobleview, Okeemo (great skiing!), and Bishbash Falls this year. Of all the clubs offered at L.H.S., this one stresses a love of outdoors with an appreciation for nature. Club President Shelagh Foley stated that "you have to be into the outdoors." Obviously these people were, and they jammed on their various outings!

the innovation of Lhs rough draft

A new headline swept through the school this year. It was the "Rough Draft", the newest addition to LHS newspapers. Editors Noel Burke, Tom Brendler, and Maryellen Donnelly wanted to start a newspaper with a creativity section and show readers the lighter side of life. With the help of advisors Mr. Kirkpatrick and Ms. Broderick, the students learned how to establish a newspaper.

The paper is divided into sections, each with its own editor. Andy Cohen heading the sports section, and Jay Withgot publishing students' impressions. Tom Brendler was head of editorials and Maryellen Donnelly was features editor. Beth Mitchell and Judy Castagna handled the business, while Rob Kagan and Steve Schwartz supplied spectacular photographs. LHS students made the "Rough Draft" a student paper with a creative and bright look at the news.

chinese club

This year LHS saw the arrival of a new foreign language course- Chinese. In addition to the class, the eighteen members of the two Chinese classes have formed a Chinese club led by their teacher Mrs. Su. Although the club was slow in getting started, many activities were organized to learn about Chinese culture. At one meeting, the group sampled various Chinese foods. Many students found this a welcome change from traditional American meals. To further enhance their cultural experience, Mrs. Su showed slides of China. The eager group also accompanied the Asian Civilization class on a trip to Boston where they visited the Chinese painting exposition at the Harvard Square Museum. According to Bonnie and Connie Wong, "The Chinese club offers LHS students a wonderful opportunity to learn about an exciting culture."

"Off into the wild blue yonder . . " could be a motto for the American Field Service (AFS), an international organization represented in high schools around the world. AFS gives students a chance to attend school in another country and learn the language, customs, and culture while living with a host family.

Longmeadow is fortunate to have an active chapter with forty members that meet once each month in the library. President Catherine Eiff and Vice-president Catherine Casey, along with Treasurer Ajay Desai and Secretary Karen Morey, keep things running smoothly. Joanne Tranghese offers her help and support as program chairwoman.

AFS sponsors several fund raisers including the carnival at LHS, the international dinner, and the carnival during "Longmeadowe Days." The club also meets with neighboring AFS claubs on the New England exchange weekends.

Visiting this year were Makiko Kawamoto from Japan and Karim El Fishaway from Egypt. Both students enjoyed the year and have been a wonderful asset to the club and the school.

AFS is a great way to broaden horizons, learn about other countries, and meet fascinating people: it's a terrific organization!

sharing our neighborhood

For many years, Longmeadow High School has offered a program called METCO. Metco, a voluntary program which buses inner-city black students to suburban schools, allows black students to obtain a high education. This year sixteen students are attending Longmeadow High School through Metco.

Although the students live out of town, they participate actively in sports and clubs. Most of us have watched Alvin Paige rush down the football field for yet another touchdown, Crystal Hamer showing her spectacular dancing talent in the variety show, and Marvin Lyon dribbling down the basketball court for a basket. Others participate enthusiastically in the different activities that are offered at LHS.

ABC, "A Better Chance," offers educationally unfortunate students the chance to use their intelligence and talents in surroundings that offer more opportunities to them than their original school had. Longmeadow is such a place, and the ABC program at L.H.S. is flourishing.

The scholarship program has already succeeded in sending several ABC student's of Longmeadow to college and continues to offer the advantages of L.H.S. to new ABC students every year.

Most of the money donated to ABC comes from organizations, individuals, and various Longmeadow host families. ABC also holds fund-raisers such as the ABC Road Race and their annual spring tag sale. ABC is considered one of the most successful minority educational programs in the country and has proven this here in Longmeadow.

lending a hand in the library

Library aides continued to be helpful this year at LHS. Led by head librarian Peter Bergeron and his loyal assistants, the Library Aides have gained the respect and admiration of their classmates. Performing such inspirational tasks as cataloging cards, checking out books, and providing assistance for needy researchers, this force has perfected the art of Librarianship. To attain such mastery of the neccesary skills, these volunteers selflessly passed up an exciting Longmeadow social life for four weeks of intense training. Life at LHS without aides such as those found in the library is difficult to imagine. Luckily, a recent wave of volunteerism has inspired a new generation of aides. Strictly voluntary, they receive no payment except for the rich rewards of helping their fellow man. The few, the proud, the LHS Library Aides.

the spirit of homecoming

Homecoming is a time to fondly remember the times we shared and is a lasting tradition.

The winning football team — devoured, destroyed, and eventually defeated our archrivals, the East Longmeadow Spartans. The score proved, without a doubt, the superiority of Longmeadow's football players.

As to the floats in the Homecoming parade, this year's theme of "That's Entertainment" produced an interesting variety of entries. The Senior class once again proved its outstanding construction skills with their prize winning float depicting the Grammy, the Oscar, and the Tony awards. The Juniors, however, had some difficulty arriving at the parade. Their entry of a director's chair and a megaphone was last observed blowing through the streets of Longmeadow under the near-hurricane winds. The Sophomore class made a respectable showing with their model of a top hat. A game room including Pac-Man and MTV, the Freshman entry, also entertained many Longmeadow residents who watched the parade as it toured our town.

weekends were made for . . .

On Friday and Saturday evenings, the typical Longmeadow High School student can be found worshipping in the casual atmosphere of the temple of Bacchus. Let us listen in on a service:

"Where's the party?"
"Party hearty, rock n' roll . . ."
"If you can't say it, you can't do it"
"Where'd the quarter go?"
"Let the good times roll"
"Too much is never enough"

More legitimate concerns include sporting activities such as football, basketball, lacrosse, and whirly-ball. The high pitched excitement of the Teen Center is too much for some students who prefer McDonald's or Friendly's (for our ambulatory peers). The grind of the school week often can be draining for the students who learn to live for the WEEKENDS.

on the job

Every day at 2:15, school finally ends and afterschool activities begin. Some students stay at school to study (poor souls), others go to practices, meetings, or detention. Still other have their favorite soap operas which pull them home like magnets. Aside from all of these, however, many young people rush to their different jobs throughout the community. Whether they work to gain responsibility, to meet people, or to occupy their time, LHS students can be found hard at work at Big Y, Friendly's, and many other places. Most students like to earn their spending money. "It's great," says Hayley Rickless, a junior who is employed at Big Y, "you can work varying shifts, and still earn enough money for clothes, movies, and even driving lessons." Many upperclassmen work to buy or maintain their cars, and, although jobs may cut into some social activities, "the knowledge and experience you can gain," comments a senior who works at Crockett's, "makes coming late to a few parties worthwhile."

"Oliver!"

As expected, this year's fall musical, Oliver, was another successful production. Mr. Mucci's sixth show at L.H.S., he directed, conducted, and choreographed this year's production. Over one-hundred people participated in the show, including committees such as costuming, publicity, stage crew, lighting, sets, and props. These people worked very closely with the actors to make Oliver such a success. Lead parts in the show were portrayed by Danny Martin as Oliver, Leigh Dobkin as Fagin, Tony Templeton as Artful Dodger, Tammy Johnson as Nancy, Rich Skoler as Bill Sikes, and Brian Canavan as Mr. Bumble. The actors, orchestra, and crews rehearsed for six weeks before the final production. But the work was well worth it. The play was seen by 1500 people, and for the first time in the history of L.H.S., the played sold out the second night it played. With the combonation of talent and hard work, Oliver was one of the best productions L.H.S. has ever seen.

"lights out!"

"Lights Out!" was the cry heard at the 1985 Key Club Variety Show. The main theme involved irony, and many of the acts were definitely not what the audience was expecting. Energetic performances by the talented students of L.H.S. made this show a winner.

A substantial amount of money was raised through this year's show and the proceeds were sent to the UNICEF District Project in this area.

Corey Casden, David Trudeau, and Rich Skolar, assisted by many other willing Key Clubbers, worked long, hard hours to make this show a good one. Rob Kagan worked hard as producer. From auditions to technincal rehearsals, they produced a spectacular show.

Variety 85 exploded with talent and creativity. Although the talent and many of the performers return each year, the creartivity changes, and the "different" performances of this year shined with creativity. Kicking off with a dancing act called "Imagination," Variety 85 was filled with enthusiam and good times.

keeping in tune

Interseted in singing? Have we got a program for you! The Longmeadow High School Chorus Department offers several courses including girls' chorus, mens' chorus, concert chorus, Lyrics, made by audition only, and Cantori, a select group of extremely hard-working and advanced vocalists. Eventually, all of the groups unite for three spectacular shows; the Winter Concert, the well attended Pop concert, and the Spring concert, which is usually held out-of-doors. Each of these productions is always a great success, due to the guiding influences of both Mr. Peter Thomsen, and Mr. Michael Mucci. Add up the music, talented students, and very dedicated teachers and what do you get? A great music department!

and the band played on

The term "band" promarily refers to Concert Band, Wind Ensemble, and Jazz Ensemble. Mr. Mucci teaches Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble, while Mr. Burkle conducts Wind Ensemble. Concert Band consists mostly of freshmen and is what Mr. Mucci calls the "training group." He teaches the students techniques and skills, and then goes on to assist them in learning music.

Wind Ensemble is the next step after Concert Band. Here students are expected to learn their music more rapidly. When the students audition, Mr. Burkle chooses those who are most skillful. Jazz Ensemble is the most select group at the high school. This group plays more contemporary music such as jazz and rock. Jazz Ensemble has been in the top in Western Mass. for the past two years. All three groups performed in winter and spring concerts.

The People, Places, And Faces Of '85

For the Class of '85, the year began in June of 1984 with the realization that we were now the oldest students in the school. The Lacrosse Team won the State Title, the Russians pulled out of the Olympics, and the schoolyear ended. The L.A. Olympics came, and the U.S. dominated. While Americans cheered, LHS students ate Big Macs, compliments of the McDonalds Olympics game card offer. Meanwhile, the Rough Draft, the new school newspaper, started taking shape. School reopenned in September, but mouths stayed shut in the library. October came, and the Detroit Tigers won the World Series. November proved to be a busy month. Reagan-Bush scored a landslide victory over Mondale-Ferraro, the Lancer football team dominated the Suburban League en route to a Superbowl Berth, the Weeds defeated the Daisies, and the Daisy-Weed cheerleaders destroyed everything in their path. In December, the word "deferred" took on a new meaning in many seniors' vocabularies, a classy Christmas party was aborted, McDonalds road trips were prevented, and Doug Flutie joined the ranks of the immortal with one big pass. The new year came but no snow fell. In January, work began on the new senior lounge, and the San Francisco 49ers romped to a Superbowl victory. The Class of 1985 bids Longmeadow High School farewell.

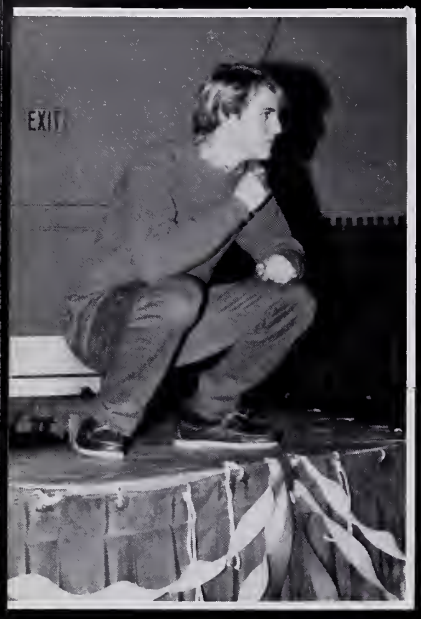
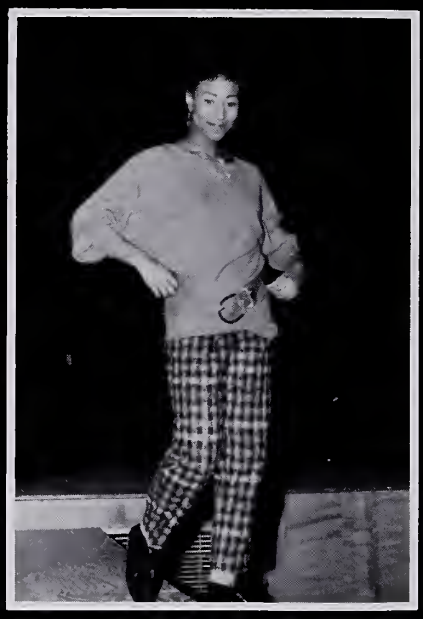
senior class shows off





"OO"'s and "AH"'s rose from the crowd when attractive models paraded up and down the ramp. This was the class of 1985's Fashion Show, a new idea in fundraising. The models, members of the senior class, modeled fashions supplied by The Lodge, Hit of Miss, and Levine's, while Clyde Robinson, Cheryl Rogers, Karen Gibson, and Jeff Grodsky, commentators for this splendid event, described each outfit.

THE LANCER

Class Of 86' Get Their kicks!!

"Bring the cases of Budweiser over here!" . . . A familiar shout during the class of 1986's biannual bottle drive. Junior class president Abby Roth agrees that the bottle drive incorporated the major goals of the class: to involve as many juniors as possible in class activities, raise class spirit, and earn money for Senior year. This year, class officers, Vice-president Michael Murphy, Treasurer Suzanne Rotondo, and Secretary Sarah Martel, as well as their president, all worked hard organizing exciting activities, including a fun-filled homecoming, and a lovely Junior-Senior semi-formal.

With help from advisors Mr. McKenna and Mr. Hirsch, the class of 1986 completed the sale of their Lancer painter's hats, and baked delectable food for football games, while brewing ideas for a thrilling Senior year!

Class Of 87' Is Getting It Together!

Two down, two to go! The Sophomore class successfully made it through their second year at LHS. This year proved to be even better; especially with the leadership of President Matthew Landon, Doreen Fontaine, Vice President, Kim Roberts, Secretary, and Andrea Doherty, Treasurer. The Class of '87 went on a class trip to see a New England Patriots football game, eagerly built their class float, and basically had a lot of class spirit. This year certainly has the enthusiasm to last until senior year, and the energy to hold many fun and money making projects.

Class Of '88 Is Great!!

The class of '88 had a very successful freshman year. They made a good start with fundraisers which increased their treasury and their spirit. President Neela Thakur feels that, "this year has been a year of building spirit and getting people involved." The other class officers, Vice President Ellen Ferris, Secretary Melanie Graff, and Treasurer Mark LoBello, have also worked hard this year to get classmates involved in activities such as building their homecoming float, and sponsoring a dance. Class Advisors Mr. Slate and Ms. Broderick are proud of their class' hard work, and are looking forward to three more successful years with the class of 1988.

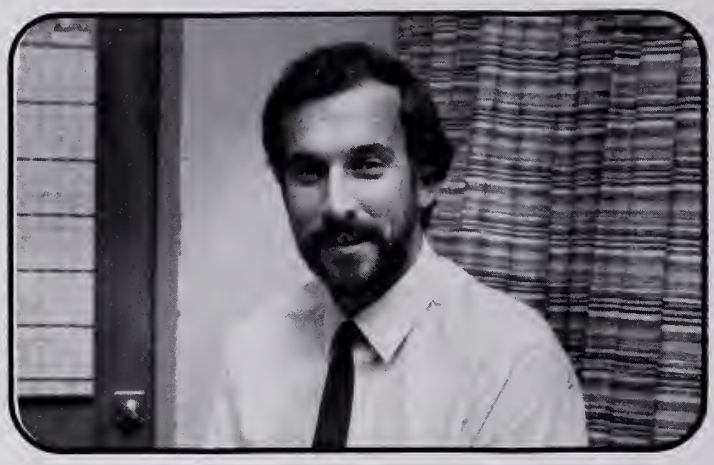
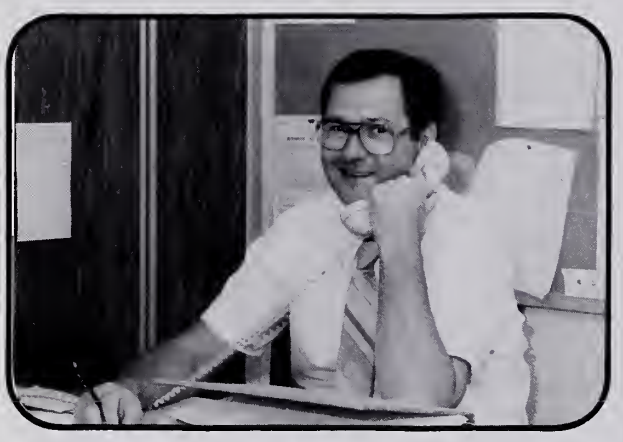
"The ADMINISTRATION Of A School Is Leader, Educator, And Frien



Dennis Pike

Angelo Teixeira



Daniel Lynch

Robert McKenna

Many dedicated people make up the LHS administration: those of the school committee, the superintendent, and two assistant principals. These people work together to make LHS the best it possibly can be.

The school policies are set by the School Committee. These seven people are elected by the town and make the rules which Superintendent Dr. McKanna carries out. Some of the School Committee goals for this year were to make some regulations concerning post-game celebrations and activities, to review the college handbook, and to develop a community awareness program.

Other people who make up the administration of LHS are Principal Angelo Teixiera, and Assistant Principals Dennis Pike and Daniel Lynch. These administrators are seen much more frequently at LHS than the others because it is their job to work directly with the students and faculty. Mr. Teixiera, who oversees the entire school, feels that the year has been very challenging, as he has done his best to get students involved in activities. Mr. Lynch has worked hard to keep up the appearance of LHS, and, along with Mr. Pike, to cut down on disciplinary problems. This year, administrators at LHS have dedicated themselves to creating an ideal educational environment for everyone.

The Guidance department plays an important role in each LHS student's high school career. Not only do guidance counselors help students adjust their schedules and choose colleges, but they also help straighten out any other types of troubles a student may have. When a student has a problem, he knows he can confide in his guidance counselor not only as an advisor, but also as a friend.

Along with assistance from their counselors, students can find help in choosing a career at the Career Resource Center. Here students find information on specific careers, colleges, and scholarships. With its dedicated counselors and the Career Resource Center, the guidance department at LHS plays a major role for each student.

To the left: Mr. Stockwell gives Chris Krol some good advice about college. Pththth!!

The English department at LHS affords an intensive study of the English language in four years. Beginning in freshman year, students are encouraged to read classics by Dickens and other famous authors. Sophomore year, students study American authors such as Arthur Miller and John Steinbeck. Junior year, the study of authors like Shakespeare and Chaucer broadens the student's understanding of English literature and the modern wold. In the fourth year of required English, students tackle poetry and philosophy.

Mr. Cobbs is now in his second year as department head. His goals include: student development of skills in reading, writing, speaking, listening, and an understanding of great literature. Field trips to New York exhibits and plays, are incorporated in the curriculum to accomplish these goals. According to Mr. Cobbs, "Teachers should never abandon their beliefs in the infinite worth of the students."

Although the Math Department at LHS has been greatly enhanced by the computer program, one should not overlook the already superior math courses and the excellence of its thirteen member staff. Mr. David Daniels serves as the Department Chairperson, and each of the other twelve dedicated math teachers hold degrees as math majors.

Aside from teaching a greater understanding of math, it is the goal of the department to enhance the student's independent learning skills and develop an understanding of problem solving from more than one perspective. S.A.T. math preparation is also an important course offered by the Math Department.

Mr. Daniels commented that, "If the Computer Program at LHS continues to expand in both availability and interest, it is only a matter of time before the Computer Science portion of the Math Department will mature into a department within itself."

Many opportunities are available to a student when he studies a foreign language; the benefits are endless. One important benefit is the understanding and acceptance the student gains of other cultures. The foreign language department widened its scope this year with the addition of a full year course in Chinese, taught by Mrs. Su, a new addition to the department. Along with Chinese, LHS offers French, Spanish, Latin, and German. Heading the department this year is Mr. Justin who has taught at LHS since 1966. Outside of school Mr. Justin enjoys hunting, skiing, fishing, and travelling in Europe. He taught in Rhode Island and Connecticut before coming to LHS and enjoys teaching here very much.

The doors that a foreign language opens to students are phenomenal, and LHS offers students the chance to open these doors, and therefore broaden their education.

If you have ever witnessed the annual freshman courtyard run, heard one of Mr. Suzor's small explosions, or calculated the velocity of a piece of chalk projected by Mr. Hirsh, you can understand the wide variety of activities offered by the Science Department at Longmeadow High School.

The typical curriculum for Freshman includes IME or Biology. Sophomore year offers Biology and Chemistry. Juniors have a choice of Chemistry or the ever-popular Physics. Most Seniors opt for either Advanced Placement Biology or Advanced Placement Chemistry. Some upperclassmen, however, decide to take advantage of the minimum two year science requirement.

Those students who do continue their science education participate in a variety of fun activities like disecting fetal pigs, a trip to the Bronx Zoo, and nature hikes to Bliss Park to study trees.

Asian History, Contemporary Issues, you name it, the Longmeadow High School Social Studies department offers it. Although both U.S. History I and II are required for all students, various other courses are taught as electives. Some of the staff even get to teach their "special favorites" such as Russian History, European History, and Civil Liberties. "In fact, the two things that make the LHS Social Studies department superior," comments Mr. Santos, department head, "are the curriculum and the staff." Their goals? "To help students become more aware of the feelings and needs of other cultures." Of course, the positive response from students seem to indicate an interest in what they are trying to achieve. With its dedicated staff, the wide variety of courses, and such impressive goals, it is easy to see why the LHS history department is one of the best around.

"CAREER EDUCATION is practical study for the real world"

Career Education offers LHS students a chance to get a head start on future career plans. Through Career Ed. programs, students can get a taste of the world of business and trading.

Because there are many jobs to choose from, LHS offers a wide variety of courses to interested students. If one wishes to get ahead in the business world, the junior enterpriser can begin with Introduction to Business I and Typing I, eventually building up to Word Processing Applications, Legal Typing, Salesmanship, or Secretarial Procedures. The Business courses are a great opportunity for an amateur tycoon to start a climb to success.

Home Economics add another dimension to Career Education in the high school. Students learn to cook up a storm or to stitch garments in such courses as Regional and International Foods or Clothing and Foods I. If one wishes to experiment with fashion, Fashion Design is available, and for kid-crazy people, courses like Exploring Child I and Family Life Education offer an educational look at young children. Home Economics, ranging from Interior Design to Survival Skills, is a great department for anyone planning to build a family or go into clothing, foods, fashion, teaching, or even professional babysitting. The department teaches skills needed for day to day living.

Students interested in fields such as architecture, mechanical work, home repair, and engineering take advantage of Career Education in the area of technology. Courses range from Metal I to Technical Drawing to Small Engine Repair. The classes give one basic skill and a chance to experiment with possible future careers. Courses like Auto Maintenance are useful to any driving students, and Engineering Drawing gives future engineers a chance to pursue their interests.

Career Education offers LHS students a chance to pursue almost any career they wish before leaving high school.

"FINE ARTS are the heart of civilized life"

Peter Thomsen

Michael Mucci

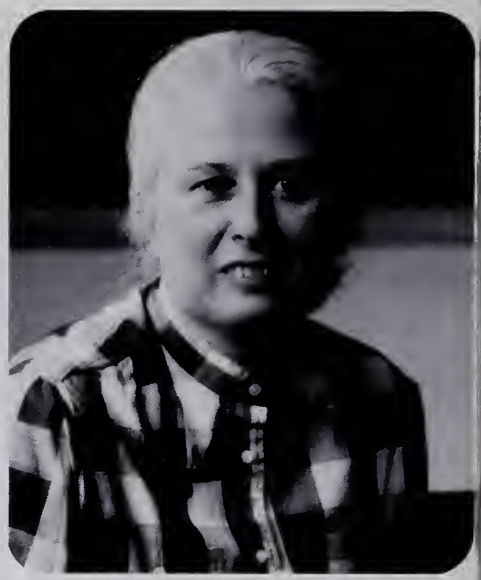
Wilfred Burkle



Judith Ebeling

Bonny Johnson

The Fine Arts Department, headed by Mr. Burkle, consists of music and art. This year, Mr. Thompson diligently worked with the select chorus and Lyrics, while Mr. Burkle conducted orchestra and Wind ensemble. Mr. Mucci helped concert chorus and concert band. Large participation in the District and All-State Festivals this year shows the great extent of musical talent at LHS.

The art department also has an excellent curriculum. The 2D classes teach the fundamentals of drawing, painting, and printmaking, while the 3D classes demonstrate techniques in ceramics, sculpture, and weaving. Mrs. Ebeling feels that knowledge in the arts gives young people the "ability to express themselves".

To the right: The band plays on.

"PHYSICAL EDUCATION enables one to maximize life."

Judith Bouley

Norman Harris

An enjoyable break in the LHS student's curriculum is the twice a week meeting of their PE class. Although gym is required most students not only enjoy it, but feel that it is a valuable part of their education. The physical education department offers a wide variety of sports that students can take part in. More popular classes include tennis, basketball, frisbee, and volleyball. Jogging was a new class offered this year. Taught by Department Head Robert D'Agostino, students learned the proper methods for stretching before running, and, while running at their own pace, to gradually increase their running distance. Not only are students at LHS taught techniques, and basic skills for different sports, but they are also taught the sports origins and history. PE gives LHS students a chance to take part in a new and different sport, and improve their skills in the sports they are already familiar with. The students at LHS feel that PE is an enjoyable learning experience.

"SPECIAL PEOPLE keep the school running smoothly"

Gilbert Lamarre

Many special people are unsung heroes of LHS, the people who keep it running smoothly. From the librarians Peter Bergeron, Poppy Pratt, and Irene Beachman, to Kay Duclos and all her staff in the cafeteria, especially Betsy Baldwin and the Dime Lady, our school could not survive without their everpresent efforts. Our nurse, Helga Kohnfelder, is always eager to help us feel better; and Rich Remillard and his custodial crew keep our school clean. Merrill Oltchick provides teachers and students alike with all the visual and audio equipment they need. Other enthusiastic efforts are found in the Reading Department. Dr. Gilbert LaMarre and Mrs. Beth Young are always ready to help. The secretaries and the PA announcers are super. Janet Quattrochi, Margaret Derby, Marietta Barry, Carol Cash, Majorie Webster, Dorothy Perrault, Louise Chambers, and Dorothy Bonsall are typing away to give us the best. Without all these "special people" LHS could not be as great as it is.

With Our Thanks . . .

Each year the Editors-in-Chief face the challenge of putting the yearbook together. We began this year training our two new advisors-Mr. Potvin and Mr. Fil. Both were enthusiastic and eager to learn; they were dedicated to making sure that the 1985 MASACKSIC turned out better than ever. In addition to creating the yearbook and training our advisors, we faced the task of handling the staff problems — from the photographers not taking the pictures to the typist losing the copy to the personal "wars" within the staff.

But . . . as we sit back and look at the results, we see a yearbook that is the first to be put together in a totally UNIQUE way. It is a yearbook that will set new standards fo years to come. We have all of you, our staff, to thank fo your contributions of creativity, enthusiasm, and dedica tion. Without each one of you, this yearbook would not b as great as it is.

Since this is our senior yearbook, it is obviously very spe cial to both of us. It is also special to us because it is combination of our UNIQUE ideas. We want to say than you again to all of you for all your long hours of hard work a preserving memories that will always last.

When You Need HELP With Your College Tuition, Come to SIS.

Last year, we loaned over $2,000,000 to students who qualified for loans through the Massachusetts Higher Education Loan Program. And we loaned money to parents of college students through the PLUS Loan Program.

Going to college can be an expensive proposition. Check your free copy of the College Scope pamphlet for a complete listing of colleges and expenses. It's available through your guidance counselor or at any branch of SIS.

And if you need a loan to make those tuition payments, call us. We'll do our best to give you all the HELP or PLUS you need.
